PROFILE

My name is Pauline and I love website development. I thoroughly enjoy my work in creating not only award winning websites but solutions for our clients. My goal is to create web experiences that makes clients' lives easier with efficient, functional websites that positively affect their business.

I am a woman of dry humor who enjoys crocheting in my spare time. I'm always down to play video games or discuss k-pop. I consider one of my best assets is my desire to always continue learning in my career.

Website Developer

Mad Genius // Jackson, MS // 2019 - 2020

Mad Genius is a full-service advertising agency. I work with a team of developers in converting designs to custom Wordpress themes and various tasks that often go along with website development. My work ranges in complexity, such as a custom Vue.JS quiz and animated landing pages.

Website Developer

Focus Group // Biloxi, MS // 2016 - 2019

Focus Group is a full-service advertising agency. With them, I led the website development department. I created processes and protocols to establish a strong foundation for success. I was involved with every project from its inception. This includes giving directions for design from a UX and programming perspective, assisting in copy direction, search engine optimization, and giving every project its defined scope of work. Besides project leadership, I also programmed Wordpress websites, maintained established brand websites, conducted client training and performed server administration.

Website Developer and Graphic Designer

Future Design Group // Biloxi, MS // 2015 - 2016

Future Design Group is a digital marketing studio. I started as an intern then became a contractual worker. I worked in the website development and graphic design departments. I worked with Wordpress and performed website maintenance for clients. I created weekly graphics for their various social media platforms and other graphics needed for websites.

EDUCATION

B.S. in Website Development and Dual Minors

Tulane University 2013-2015

At Tulane University, I achieved my Bachelors of Science in website development. I also graduated with dual minors in Applied Computing and Graphic Design. My well rounded course work complemented each other for my career in the website development field.
